1. Introduction

Indore Institute of Science and Technology (IIST) is driven by its commitment to the idea of "Education for Common People," placing a strong emphasis on student empowerment. This ethos is reflected in the vibrant student government and active student involvement across academic, administrative, and social spheres.

A. Student Activity Committee:

The Student Activity Committee is a dynamic body that includes representatives from various sectors, such as the class, NSS, cultural, and sports domains, along with student leaders.

1. Leadership Development: The committee plays a pivotal role in nurturing leadership skills by involving students in event planning and organizing. This initiative helps foster a positive and collaborative campus environment.
2. College Events: The committee takes the lead in organizing a diverse range of events, including sports competitions, seminars, cultural festivals, and commemorations of national leaders.
3. Social Responsibility: Active participation in NSS initiatives, such as awareness rallies, environmental drives, and efforts to maintain campus discipline, highlights the students' commitment to social causes.
4. Departmental Involvement: Students also contribute to departmental activities and annual festivals, enhancing their connection to their academic disciplines.

B. Beyond the Committee:

1. Administrative Engagement: Students are nominated to various academic and administrative committees (e.g., IQAC, Library), allowing them to gain valuable experience and further develop their leadership and organizational skills.
2. Co-Curricular and Extracurricular Pursuits: Students actively participate in NSS programs, cultural activities, sports, and excursions, often organizing events, competitions, and initiatives like tree planting to engage the campus community.
3. Collaboration: The college fosters collaboration with local NGOs, spearheading impactful projects like blood donation camps, demonstrating a strong commitment to social change.

IIST ensures that students are actively involved in a broad spectrum of activities that enhance their education and contribute to the community. The institute's dedication to "Education for Common People" empowers students to take on leadership roles, create positive change, and emerge as well-rounded individuals with a strong sense of social responsibility.
